Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

Laurence Williamson was born in Fetlar on 11 March 1855 and died in 1936. He was the son of James Williamson and Molly Gardner. The family moved to Linkshouse in Yell and then to Gardie where his father was a merchant and the postmaster. Laurence continued to run the post office after his father's death until 1885. He also worked as a teacher. He was interested in poetry, history, folk-lore, philosophy, genealogy and politics.

Scope and content

Letters to Williamson's friends and family and notes by him on various subjects.

It was the night that Tammy's Willa married '81, that A. of Vatsie married '88, the night the Whalsay boats were lost in snowstorm and D. Nisbet was at Brough '87, also the week our father died on 17th, and several other far-reaching events closely touching us or our people. | | 'Once Edinburgh would have been of great interest to me, but when I was there I felt not the least desire to go outside the station to see it; and after the troubles I feel very little desire to see London. Still I would like to see many things in London--the British Museum, the Wallace collection in Hertford House, John Bunyan's grave in Bunhill fields, and Charles Wesley's, St Pauls, Westminster Abbey'. | | |

| | Scope and content: To 'Dear aunt', concerning his mother's death. 'Mitchell, Daniel and Charlotte Clark came and stayed all night and Thomasina till one a.m. She grew weaker from midnight to 4.30. At 1 she knew us all. Then her face gradually brightened and a bloom on her cheeks, and she looked much like what she did in my early years, young, round cheeked and bright. The choke kept on. But from 11 she gradually grew weaker and paler till 4.33 when the breath calmly went, as I commended her spirit into the great Father's hands. ... Tomorrow is her 87th birthday. Poor mother.' | | |
